A Happy Easter to all our readers

Make a booking at The Lodge for a guided tour of the Gwembe Crocodile Farm only a few kms away .

Here you can view some of Livingstone's most notorious man-eating crocodiles as well as a fascinating collection of Zambia's most dangerous venomous snakes

Croc Dundee of Livingstone - The Scotsman Joe Brookes " true Celtic toughness"

Jo has been in Africa for over 50 years, and has worked with crocodiles for around 20 of these remarkable, action packed years. He calmly enters the pen containing several 12 foot sleeping monsters, the feared Crocodylus niloticus, armed only with a stick, quick reflexes and a deep understanding of these prehistoric creatures

Groups gasp in awe as he meanders amongst the hissing bodies, explaining the fascinating physiology and remarkable survival techniques. Just as the group starts to relax, Jo reaches down and touches the tail of the biggest croc in the pen, all the while reeling off more and more interesting facts. Clients are holding their breath, some hardly daring to look, not quite comprehending what they are witnessing. Jo then goes up to a bridge above the pen, and swings a large hunk of meat above the passive bodies. Suddenly the pen erupts into a swirling mass of raw power and smashing jaws, and the meat disappears in seconds. This is repeated until Jo is sure each of his crocs has had "a bit of a snack". People leave the croc farm feeling enlightened, terrified and utterly in awe of a fearless Scotsman and his powerful predators he loves so much

Viewing the Victoria Falls

One special vantage point is across the Knife Edge Bridge, where visitors can have the finest view of the Eastern Cataract and the Main Falls as well as the Boiling Pot where the river turns and heads down the Batoka Gorge. The Bridge which is covered with spray in the rainy season, links two crags together. It was built in 1967 at the request of the then President, Kenneth Kaunda.
